Sales Pipeline Insights: Comprehensive Analysis

Understanding Sales Process

Before we dive into the insights, here's what you need to know:

- Sales process starts at "Opportunity Accepted" and ends at "Deploy" (where we count it as a win)
- "Closed Lost" = we tried but didn't win the deal
- "Qualified Out" = the Sales Manager reviewed it but rejected it from the pipeline
- Lead Source = where the opportunity originally came from
- Campaign = which marketing initiative created it
- "Meeting Set," "Meeting Rescheduled," "Meeting Finished" = early stages (SDRs and Alliances use these to pass opportunities to Sales)

Insight 1: New Business Volume Problem (Volume vs. Wins)

The Issue

New Business has way more opportunities than Upsell (327 vs. 73), but it produces fewer actual wins (19 vs. 25).

Total opportunities:

- New Business: 138 + 19 + 170 = 327
- Upsell: 34 + 25 + 14 = 73

Wins (Deploy):

- New Business: 19
- Upsell: 25

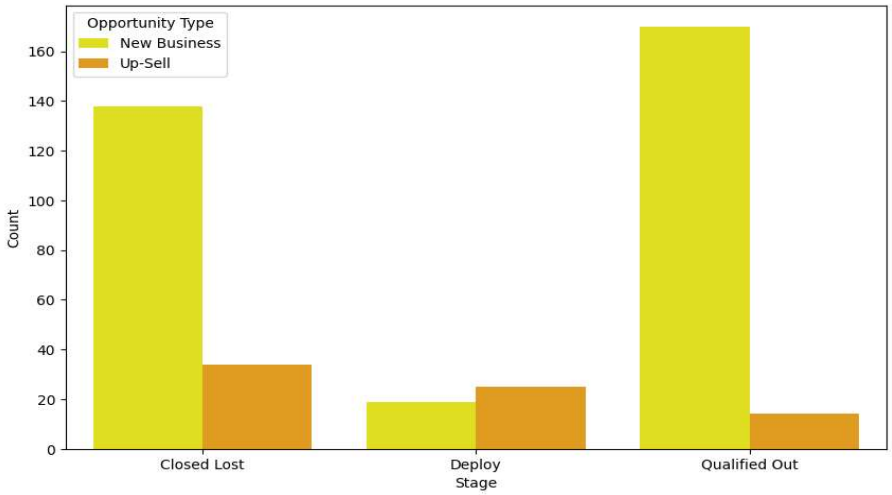
So, New Business has far more volume, but fewer wins in absolute terms than Upsell, despite having more than 4× as many opportunities. Even though we're putting in more effort, we're getting less back.



Insight 2: New Business Win-Rate is Too Low

The Issue

- New Business win-rate: 19 ÷ 327 = 6%
- Upsell win-rate: 25 ÷ 73 = 34%

Upsell motion converts deals 5.7 times better than New Business.

This clearly shows:

- The New Business funnel is very leaky: most deals end as Closed Lost or Qualified Out instead of reaching Deploy.
- The Upsell motion is much healthier, converting roughly one-third of its opportunities to Deploy.

In summary:

- New Business: high volume, very low win-rate, with the majority in Closed Lost + Qualified Out.
- Upsell: lower volume but a much higher proportion of Deploy, indicating better pipeline quality.

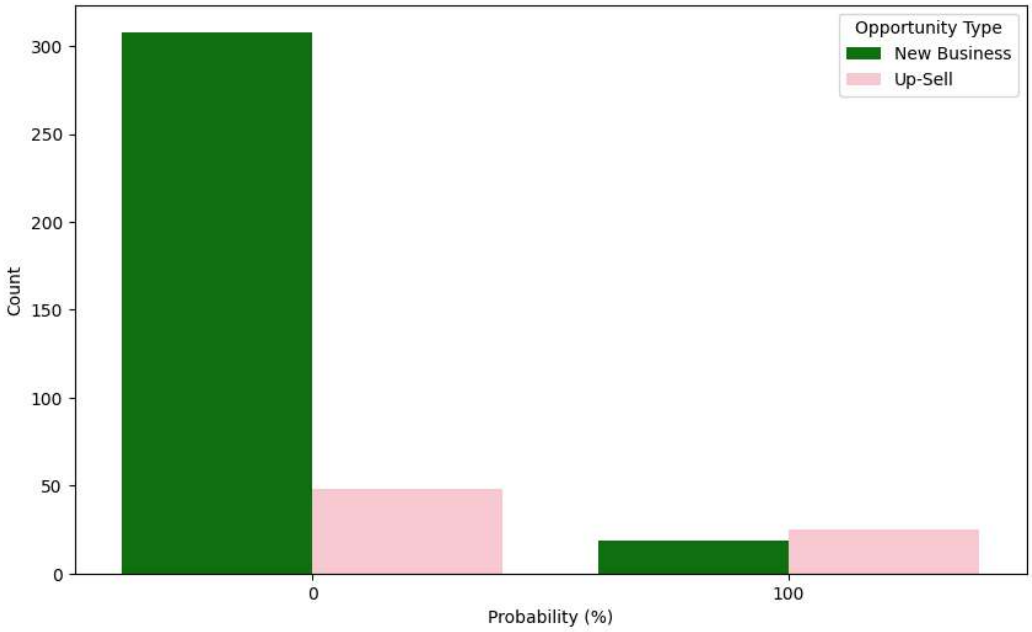
Insight 3: Pipeline Quality – Dead Deals (0% Probability)

The Issue

Almost the entire New Business pipeline and a large part of Upsell sit at 0% probability, meaning there are many dead or non-winnable deals sitting in the funnel instead of being closed out.



Insight 4: Performance by Opportunity Owner

The Issue

- Best Opportunity Owners – Upsell: Sales Manager 16 and Sales Manager 18 (convert at 50–60%)
- Best Opportunity Owner – New Business: Sales Manager 6 (converts at 5–11%)

Upsell owners convert far better, showing a much stronger upsell motion. Even the best New Business owners still have low win-rates, so New Business conversion is weak overall.

Why This Matters

Sales Manager 16 and 18 are converting 50–60% in Upsell, while Sales Manager 6 is only converting 5–11% in New Business. This gap of roughly 10× suggests that Upsell best practices and methodologies are significantly more effective and should be studied and replicated for New Business success.

Insight 5: Revenue Concentration Risk by Currency and Region

The Issue

Revenue is heavily concentrated in just two currencies/regions:

- New Business: ~21.76M USD (61%) and ~13.83M EUR (39%), with much smaller totals in CAD and GBP
- Upsell: ~6.61M USD (85%) and ~1.13M EUR (15%), also concentrated in USD and EUR

Combined: USD + EUR represents ~93% of total revenue, leaving only ~7% diversified across other regions.

Overall revenue depends strongly on a few currencies/regions. Any slowdown or pricing issue in USD or EUR would hit both New Business and Upsell, creating significant concentration risk.

Why This Matters

If the US or European market slows down, or if pricing comes under pressure in these regions, entire business is affected with no backup revenue streams. Additionally, currency fluctuations in USD and EUR directly impact reported revenue and profitability. This lack of diversification is a major business vulnerability.

What To Do

To improve New Business conversion:

- Study Upsell best practices. Document exactly how Sales Manager 16, 18, and the Upsell team operate, then adapt those practices for New Business.
- Replicate Upsell success. Analyze why Upsell converts 50–60% and apply those same tactics to New Business owners.

For geographic risk:

- Expand to UK and Canada. These are easier markets to enter and would reduce USD+EUR dependency.
- Consider India and Asia expansion. As new markets mature, they offer growth potential beyond US and Europe.
- Track geographic revenue. Monthly, review which regions we're winning deals in and make sure we're not over-relying on any single market (goal: reduce USD+EUR from 93% to ~70%).

Strategic Summary: The Bottom Line

Five key actions will transform the sales organization:

1. Copy Upsell success into New Business to close the 6% vs. 34% win-rate gap.
2. Clean up dead deals to get a true picture of pipeline health—remove 0% probability opportunities monthly.
3. Replicate Upsell best practices from Sales Manager 16, 18, and the Upsell team to New Business managers through coaching and knowledge transfer.
4. Diversify geographic and currency exposure by expanding to GBP, CAD, and India/Asia markets, reducing USD+EUR dependency from 93% to ~70%.

Immediate impact: These actions will improve New Business conversion rates, strengthen forecasting accuracy, reduce wasted sales effort, and build long-term business resilience against market shocks.
